

Northwest Inland Writing Project 2016 Spring Conference Igniting a Passion for Writing

Register Online
niwp.org

March 3-4, 2016

9 am - 4 pm

(Check in begins at 8:15 am)

North Idaho College

Edminster Student Union Building

Cost:

Before Feb. 27 - $95/both days or $60/one day

After Feb. 27 - $120/both days

Breakout sessions, presented by NIWP Fellows, include:

- Write Locally, Share Globally
- Writing in Content Areas
- Writing with Culturally and Linguistically Diverse Learners
- Four Kinds of Analysis Writing
- Narrative Writing Using Technology
- Engaging Students in Songwriting
- Using Science Notebooks in the Classroom
- How to Use Peer Editing with Perfection
- Writer's Workshops in the Age of CCSS
- Authentic Audiences and the Relationship to Student Engagement

Keynote Speaker

Author and teacher, Steven Peha, will present high-leverage strategies that work across curricula and up and down the grade levels. Steve has been developing, field testing, and distributing writing tools for over 20 years, and has designed a practical approach to meeting the diverse needs of our students.

Each participant will also receive a copy of Be a Better Writer, Steve Peha's newest writing strategy book for young authors and the adults who support them.

Sponsored by:

University of Idaho
College of Education

